

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

To provide a device for refining a solid material and a process for refining it, whereby from the supply of the material to the operation for recovery of crystals
5 can be carried out batch-wisely or continuously, and inclusion of foreign matters such as particles can be efficiently prevented. A device for refining an evaporable or sublimable solid material, which comprises a housing, and at least one rotatable roller for 10 evaporation and at least one rotatable roller for precipitation, installed in the housing.